The values I stand for guide the way I live and deal with other people. Honesty is one of the most important values because it makes people trust me. I also believe in kindness, so I try to help anyone who needs support. Respect is important too, because every person deserves to be treated politely. I value responsibility and always try to finish my work on time. Courage helps me face problems instead of running away from them. I also believe in cooperation because teamwork makes difficult tasks easier. These values shape my character, improve my behaviour, and help me become a better person every day at school, at home, and in my community.
